A BIT OF HISTORY.

The New York Voice, the national organ of the third party, still insists that prohibition is moving onward, and is a success. It would be a splendid thing if the movement were a success, but history shows that the Voice is not speaking in the line of facts. The prohibition movement is as much as thirty-five years old, and it is staggering to-day for want of support. In every case in which it has been tried, it has been, and very unfortunately, more or less a failure. Cowardice on the one hand on the part of the authorities to enforce the law, and a lack of public sentiment on the other hand to demand its enforcement, are the prime causes of the failure of the prohibition movement.

It is worth while for every intelligent reader, no matter on which side of this question he stands, to carefully read the following historical facts that show what advancement the prohibition movement has made:

New York passed the law in 1854, tried it for two years, and gave it up as a bad job.

Massachusetts tried prohibition for fifteen years, and finally repealed it as vain and injurious.

An effort to restore prohibition in Massachusetts was voted down by an overwhelming majority, April 22, 1869.

Illinois enacted prohibition in 1855, but the people repudiated it at the polls in the same year.

Atlanta tried the law for one year and repudiated it by an overwhelming majority in November, 1887. The injury to the city was incalculable.

Connecticut enacted the law in 1854, tried in vain to enforce it for eighteen years, and then finally repealed it forever in 1872.

Ohio enacted prohibition in 1855, and after a few months of bitter experience, repealed it forever.

Maryland passed a prohibition law in 1855. The result was so disastrous, both to material and moral welfare, that after a few months' trial, it was repealed, and the lesson was so severe that the question has never been raised again in that state.

New Hampshire tried prohibition for thirty-four years. April 12, 1889, an effort was made to incorporate it into her constitution. This was voted down by an enormous majority, only two counties in the state giving a majority in favor of prohibition.

Delaware tried it in 1855, and after two years found that it so seriously affected the welfare of the state that it was repealed in 1857.

The law was twice passed in Wisconsin and twice vetoed by the governor, with unanimous support of the people. That was in 1855.

Rhode Island enacted prohibition in 1855, and after ten years' trial repudiated the law in 1865. She again enacted it last year, and is now trying to get rid of it, after one year of financial and moral disaster. The legislature has by almost unanimous vote decided to submit the matter to the people.

Michigan passed the law in 1833 and kept it for twenty-two years, when, finding the failure of attempting to enforce prohibitory measures, she abandoned it in 1855. The amendment was voted down in April 1857.

Indiana and Nebraska in 1855 passed prohibitory measures, but neither of them kept prohibition upon their statute books for any length of time. Indiana vetoed on the question again in 1882, and the amendment was defeated by the biggest majority cast in that state for twenty years.

Texas cast 93,000 majority against the effort to force a prohibitory amendment into her constitution.

An effort was made to force the law on Tennessee in 1857. The people after a thorough discussion resolved not to put it into their Constitution.

Oregon submitted the amendment in 1857, but her people would have none of it and the amendment was buried under an avalanche of votes.

In November, 1858, West Virginia voted on prohibition. The question was thoroughly discussed, investigations into the working of the law in other states were carefully made, and the amendment was defeated by a vote of 3 to 1.

Canada has tried prohibition. The law was passed a few years ago, and on a reconsideration of the question April 3, 1889, the voters slaughtered prohibition from Lake Erie to the Bay of Fundy. Every city and town in Canada which voted that day repealed prohibition.

In Iowa in 1880 there were 3,034 government licenses issued for the sale of liquor. In 1886, under prohibition, the number had increased to 4,033—an increase of 999.

For the year ending April 30, 1881, before prohibition, 1884 government licenses to sell liquor were issued in Kansas. In the year ending April 30, 1887, after five years of prohibition, 2,997 licenses were issued; in other words, there were 58 per cent more places selling liquor in the year ending April 30, 1887, under prohibition, than in the year ending April 30, 1881, before the enactment of the law. There had simply been a change of name from "saloon" to "drug-store."

Maine has more liquor sellers in proportion to population than any license state.

Rhode Island has one liquor seller to every 243 men.

This is not pleasant reading for the friends of prohibition, that the facts should be given in the discussion of this question, no matter whose ox is gored.

The following item is reproduced in this impression of the Gazette for the benefit of its democratic friends. It is worth reading on account of the information it imparts, and also for the reason that it shows how deadly opposed to trusts and monopolies the democratic leaders are:

Mr. Wellington B. Burt, of Michigan, is just now bending all his energies to the formation of an international salt trust which shall have the power to tax a prime necessity on every man's table. He went to England to effect a combination with the salt producers of that country, on his return declared himself for a higher duty on salt, which could result only in benefitting the syndicate of which he is a member. The American public has a faint recollection of this same Mr. Burt as the man who ran for Governor of Michigan last year on the democratic platform of opposition to trusts, monopolies, and protection. He was the specially chosen candidate of that gushing politician, ex-Postmaster General Dickinson, to "redeem" Michigan. Mr. Burt spent his money freely, and made the highly amusing gyrations during the campaign, and lost the election by 17,000 plurality.

It may be well to state by way of explanation, that the Gazette prints this item of fact for fear that by some means the democratic papers would overlook it.

The final ratification of the Samoan treaty at Berlin is most satisfactory. It secures substantially all that the United States demanded for the protection of the autonomy of the islands, and that without any undue coming bluster.—Philadelphia Times.

This fact, stated by a democratic paper, is a gallant disappointment to the mugwumps and the democrats. They hoped that Blaine would flare up, throw his shining lance into Bismarck's side, get up a fuss with Germany, incite a war with that country, and give us lots of trouble. But this fiery man from Maine, who keeps the democrats and mugwumps from hot water always, has settled an international question of vital importance, in a manner that commands the admiration of the civilized world.

It were not for Mr. Brie's ability to draw big checks he would not be thought of as a democratic manager then the man who now sweeps out his Wall Street office. But the democratic party is still living and learning.—New York World.

Rough on the democratic chairman; but the democratic World might have said just as truly that Cleveland would not be thought of as a democratic candidate than Higgins, were it not that he is a political boss, and is the only man in the party the democrats can nominate with any hope whatever of success.

Pennsylvania goes against prohibition by about 200,000 majority. It seems that high license is what suits the people down that way.

JOHNSTOWN ORGANIZING.

Meeting of Surviving Members of the City Council.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 19.—The first effort looking to the establishment of civil government here was made Tuesday afternoon, when Gen. Hastings met the few remaining members of the council and reorganized that body. President Kennedy presided at the meeting, and after reorganizing it was decided to allow business men to build temporary structures on the two public parks. The buildings are to remain on the parks for eighteen months, when it is thought the city will be cleared up ready for rebuilding the business houses. There seems to be an urgent demand for a bank where the charity fund can be deposited and distributed to those really in need. After the meeting Gen. Hastings offered to withdraw the troops at once, but the council asked that they be allowed to remain here for a week longer, when it is thought the city can assume charge and manage the place.

Occasionally a corpse is found buried in the debris and rubbish throughout the town, but the most prolific spot is the mass of wreckage above the railroad bridge. Eleven bodies were blown up there by the blasting to-day. The army of men at that point are rapidly clearing the place, but the contractor said to-day that it would take several weeks to complete the work.

Adj.-Gen. Hastings and Superintendent Picanini of the Pennsylvania railroad have left here in a special car east-bound. Their movements were mysterious and each refused to give any information regarding their trip, but from reliable authority it was learned that they went to Cresson, where Gov. Beaver and his $1,000,000 commission is supposed to be quartered. The directors of the Pennsylvania railroad were here to-day examining the condition of their road and were advising regarding the movement of repairs to be made. They remained but a short time, and they too left for the east. It is supposed they are also with Gov. Beaver and his party. It is not definitely known where Governor Beaver with his commission will visit this place, but it is generally believed that he will.

The guards at Camp Hastings, near the Prospect hill burial grounds, report to-day that they are having great trouble with dogs. The animals are constantly disturbing the dead interred at that place. Over one hundred of the canines were driven from the place last night, and several of them killed.

The common lot.

There is a place no love can reach, There is a time no voice can teach, There is a chain no power can break, There is a sleep no sound can wake. Sooner or later that time will arrive, That place will wait for your coming, That chain must bind you in helpless death, That sleep must fall on your senses. But thousands every year go untimely to their fate, and thousands more lengthen out their days by heedless, timely care. For the failing strength, the weakening organs, the wasting blood, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a wonderful restorative and a prolonger of strength and life. It purifies the blood and invigorates the system, thereby fortifying it against disease. Of druggists.

RACELAND THE WINNER.

HE CAPTURES THE SUBURBAN AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY.

August Belmont's Famous Colt, Ridden by Garrison, Comes in First—Other Races—Baseball Scores.

New York, June 19.—The greatest American racing event of the year was determined Tuesday afternoon at Sheepshead Bay track. The northeast wind blew a quarter gale over the course, and the 30,000 people who swarmed over the grounds found light overcasts and wraps exceedingly comfortable. The heavens were cloudless, the sunlight and the cool air each tempered the other.

The great Suburban was the fourth event on the card, and through the three preceding races the impatience of the throng was scarcely held in check by interest in the running of the winners. The track had dried out finely, and though damp underneath was dusty on top. It was a trifle lumpy, but it was in far better condition than the average Suburban track.

The race was a handicap sweepstakes of $100 each, half forfeit, the association to add the amount necessary to make the total of $2,000, the second to receive $5,000 and the third $1,000 out of the money so added. Winning penalties and handicap allowances: 11 miles.

The starters, with their jockeys were as follows: Terra Cotta (McLaughlin), Burt (Hawyard), Raceland (Garrison), Badger (Anderson), Elkwood (Fitzpatrick), Bella B. (Taylor), Gorgo (Hamilton), Volunteer II. (Mosher), Brian Bora (Bergon).

On the second attempt the flag fell, and away they went, with Gorgo in the lead, Elkwood, Burt and Badger next. Coming to the stand Volunteer led by a nose, with Gorgo two lengths before Burt, who was two lengths before Badger, who had Bella B., Raceland, Brian Bora and Terra Cotta next.

At the quarter post Volunteer led by a length and a half, followed by Bella B., with Badger, Burt, Brian Bora, Terra Cotta and Elkwood next. Going up the stretch Gorgo went to the front and soon had a lead of two lengths from Burt, second. Then came Bella B., Volunteer, Brian Bora, Badger, Terra Cotta, under the whip, and Elkwood. Gorgo led until they were well into the home stretch, with Raceland next, on whom Garrison was sitting like a marble statue. As they entered the home stretch the Snapper gazed right and left, and pleased with the survey, kept Raceland to his work as steady as a clock. On they came like whirlwind, Gorgo still in the lead. Still like a statue sat the Snapper, and as immovable as fate.

With a confidence grand in itself but almost heart-breaking to his backers, Garrison, newly jockey down and urged this noble animal the slightest bit. He seemed to feel that it was all over but the shouting, and so it was. Amid the plaudits of 10,000 throats Raceland dashed past the judges' stand, an easy winner by a long and a half in 2:09 4/5. Terra Cotta second, was half a length before Gorgo, third. Burt, Brian Bora, Badger, Elkwood, the Volunteer, and Bella B. followed. Gorgo cleared out of the turn in the upper turn, followed as named. Elkwood pulled up very lame.

The winner's neck was encircled on his return to the weighing stand with a gigantic floral horseshoe, on which the legend "Suburban" was worked with flowers. It was a great race, and every lover of horses who witnessed it felt that he would not have missed the event at any cost. The time was not remarkably fast, but it was good considering the condition of the track.

The other winners were St. Carlo, Sea Drift, Salvador, Bessie June, and Bill Bond.

DONOVAN WINS.

The Duke of Portland's Bay Colt Takes the Prince of Wales Stakes.

LONDON, June 19.—This was the first day of the Ascot meeting. The race for the Prince of Wales stakes of £50 each, half forfeit, with £1,000 added, £300 to the second, and £200 to the third, for 3-year-olds; winning penalties and maiden allowances, about one mile and five furlongs, was won by the Duke of Portland's bay colt, Donovon, by a long and a half, second and Enthusiast third. There were eight starters.

The Ascot stakes, next in importance to the Prince of Wales stakes, was a much more brilliant and interesting event. Lord Lorne won, Ashplant second, Tisapherne third. There were twelve starters.

Other Turf Events.

At Chicago the winners were Innocence, Col. Gore, Gilford, Cashier, and Boot Jack.

At St. Louis the winners were Rhymer, Watterson, Redstone, Glockner, and Oarsman.

BURKE IS THE MURDERER.

He Breaks Down and Makes a Confession at Winnipeg.

CRONIN MYSTERY SOLVED.

Nothing Further To Be Learned Until the Arrival of the Chicago Officers.

Special to the Gazette.

CHICAGO, June 19th.—The grand jury has returned indictments against Martin Burke, under arrest at Winnipeg. The jury bring in two counts, one charging Burke with the murder of Cronin, and also as a conspirator.

Winnipeg, June 19th.—It is reported that Burke is entirely broke down and has made a full confession to Chief of Police McElles. He expresses a willingness to go to Chicago without extradition papers, if he is allowed to turn states' evidence. Nothing further can be learned pending the arrival of officers from Chicago.

PENNSYLVANIA GOES WEST.

The Prohibition Amendment Knocked Out by a Majority of 200,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 19.—The people of the State of Pennsylvania voted Tuesday on the question of incorporating an amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the State constitution. From a careful compilation of results there is no doubt that the amendment was defeated by a majority of not less than 200,000. Probably no political campaign in the history of the State has been more vigorously conducted. The campaign has had the active aid of Postmaster General Wannamaker, who has worked vigorously on the part of the prohibitionists, and the cause of the latter has also been championed by tens of thousands of the gentler sex. An amendment abolishing the poll tax, qualification for voters was also voted upon. Fifty-two counties (not including Allegheny) gave 4,925 majority for abolishing the poll tax, but the rural districts voted against this amendment and it is probably lost.

CALIFORNIA'S GRAPE CROP.

This Year's Yield the Largest in the History of the State.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 19.—"It looks as though California would have the largest crop of grapes in the history of the State," said Manager Wetmore, of the Viticultural commission, to-day. "We ought to produce from 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 gallons of wine. The raisin crop will be also a large one, and the State will probably produce 1,000,000 boxes this year. The outlook for the wine market is not very good. At least half of last year's vintage is in the hands of the producers, who will not sell at the ruling low prices."

Railroad Legislation in Michigan.

LANSING, Mich., June 19.—The Senate passed the bill regulating passenger fares on railroads at the rate of 2 cents a mile where the gross passenger earnings of the road are $3,000 a mile or over, 2 1/2 cents where the earnings are between $1,000 and $3,000 a mile, and 3 cents for roads whose annual earnings are less than $2,000 a mile. The railroads in the upper peninsula are allowed to charge 5 cents a mile. The bill to allow local option by vote of the county upon the sale of intoxicating liquors was passed in the Senate. The bill, which rejects the common-law presumption of malice from the mere publication of a libel, regardless of the good faith and honest intent of the publisher, was lost in the Senate. The House by a vote of 42 to 40, struck out the bill for the appointment of a chief marshal and named deputy State marshals, whose sole duty was to look after infractions of the liquor laws. The bill to allow counties to care for their own insane was also struck out.

Wants Dempsey as a Second.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 19.—Jack Dempsey, the middle weight pugilist, who is training here to fight with La Blanche at San Francisco in August, received a dispatch yesterday from James W. Kealey of New York, one of Sullivan's backers, asking him to second Sullivan in the fight with Kiriain near New Orleans. Dempsey fears that the southern climate will not agree with him and that if he accepts it will interfere with his training. He has been concluded to decline.

Joe Coghlan Tired of Married Life.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Hosea Coghlan, an actress, and her husband, Clinton Elgerly, have parted. Miss Coghlan married Elgerly about five years ago so quietly that it was some time before news of the wedding reached her professional associates. They have disagreed during the last year frequently. The actress will leave on Thursday for a visit to California that will last at least six months. Her husband will remain in New York.

Figuring on Russia's Intentions.

BERLIN, June 19.—A memorial was handed to Emperor William by Gen. Count von Waldersee two weeks ago setting forth the fact that Russia was arming her troops and begging the Emperor to ask the Czar to meaning of these warlike preparations. The communication has caused the Emperor considerable irritation. Prince Bismarck is persuaded, however, that Russia has no hostile intentions.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Change of Venue in the Celebrated Heddles Case.

ROCK TO WALWORTH.

New Trial in the Hern-Brown Case—Other Matters in the Court.

In the circuit court this morning, on the application of the defendant the venue in the action of Chas. T. Heddles by his guardian against the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Co., was changed from Rock to Walworth Co. It will be remembered that at the April term of the circuit court the plaintiff received a verdict against the railroad company of $30,000 damages for the loss of both limbs. An appeal to the supreme court was taken, where it was ably argued by the attorneys of the respective parties. The judgment was reversed and the case remanded for a new trial.

The motion for the change of venue was made upon the affidavit of Marvin Heddles, the president of the company, to the effect that the company could not have a fair trial in the circuit court on account of the prejudice of the Judge.

The motion in the action of Arthur Hern against Carlos Brown et al., to set the verdict aside, came on for argument this afternoon, and after hearing the arguments of the attorneys, Judge Bennett set the verdict aside and granted a new trial.

Judge Bennett was hearing motions this afternoon: The verdict in the case Arthur Hern vs. Carlos Brown & Walter R. Brown was set aside and a new trial granted, the cases to abide the event of the suit.

Arguments for a new trial are being heard in the case of Charles W. Faxon vs. Dexter Gray are being heard.

A DAY OF NUPTIALS.

Cupid's Artful Antics Among Jamesville Hearts.

BEFORE HYMEN'S ALTAR.

Relatives and Friends Witness Imposing Ceremonies. Beautiful Presents.

It was cupid's day and the streets this morning were full of rumors of approaching happiness. Some spoke of it jestingly. Others manifested a spirit of jealousy because they were not to be included in the list of those soon to take that all important step which inevitably comes at some period of the majority of lives. There were still others whose hearts came clear into their throats in kind wishes for dear friends so soon to part, and who could never again be to them what they had been.

It was at half-past eight o'clock this morning that Trinity church doors were thrown open. Two hundred invitations had been issued. It was the wedding of Miss Minnie O. Parker, of the first ward, to Mr. Edgar Glass, of Battle Creek, Michigan. A few minutes before nine o'clock relatives and friends began to arrive. The ushers were Herbert V. Allen and John V. Norcross. At nine o'clock nearly two hundred people were present. A few minutes later the bride and groom eloped. The bride was accompanied to the altar by Herbert M. Parker, brother of the bride, and Miss Margaret Patterson. They were met by James Slidell, rector of Trinity church, who read the Episcopal marriage service in the presence of the large company of friends and relatives.

The bride was given away by her brother. At the close of the imposing services the company adjourned to the church parlors where the newly married couple were the recipients of many hearty congratulations. The bride was remembered by her friends with many beautiful and costly presents. At 9:30 o'clock the bridal party departed from the church and were met at the St. Paul depot by many old associates of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Glass left on the 8:40 train amid showers of bouquets, for Chicago, where they will spend a few days visiting friends, after which they go to Detroit and from there to Battle Creek, Michigan, at which place they will permanently reside. The Gazette, with many friends extend best wishes for a long life of happiness and prosperity.

The bride has always been a resident of Jamesville, a graduate of our high school in the class of '73, and for many years a teacher in the city schools. In the capacity of teacher she was much loved and respected by pupils and a great favorite among her associates in school work. She is well known and highly esteemed in society and church circles. Possessing an amiable disposition, kind hearted and helpful to all, she will be greatly missed in Jamesville. The groom, Mr. Edgar Glass, is a resident young journalist of Battle Creek, Michigan. He is the proprietor of a job printing office of that city and carries on an extensive correspondence for city papers. Mr. Glass is also a young gentleman of fine appearance, evidently well educated to fill the responsible position to which he has been called, and he is heartily congratulated in his choice by the many friends of his bride who reside in this city.

A large company of relatives and friends gathered at the residence of Mr. N. Dearborn, corner of Rock and High streets, fourth ward, this morning, to witness the marriage of Miss Jessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dearborn, to Mr. Andrew O. Campbell, of this city. At exactly twelve o'clock the bride and groom eloped, accompanied by Mr. Clair Dearborn, Misses Fannie Porter, Venie Campbell, and the father and mother of the bride, entered the parlor, keeping time to a beautiful wedding march, and in the presence of about forty witnesses, Dr. M. G. Hodge spoke the words that made them husband and wife. The ceremony was very beautiful and impressive. The bride and groom stood beneath an arch of evergreens, interspersed with waterlilies. Just over their heads suspended from the top of the arch was a beautiful bow and arrow composed of syringas and foliage. The attire of the bride was beautiful. The services concluded, hearty congratulations followed and all joined in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Campbell much joy. An elaborate wedding dinner was served at one o'clock, after which the bridal party took the afternoon train for Milwaukee. After spending a few days in the Cream City they go by way of the lakes to Duluth, also visiting St. Paul, Minneapolis and other places of note. On returning to this city they will take up their residence at the home of the bride's parents. One of the pleasant features of the occasion was the presence of the bride's Sunday school class, nine in number, two of whom acted as door keepers during the ceremony. The bride received many elegant presents at the hands of relatives and friends.

The bride is a graduate of the Jamesville high school in the class of '81, is a young lady of much refinement, culture and education, is well and favorably known in church and society circles.

Mr. Campbell has resided in the city about eight years, is a gentleman of high moral standing and good business tact. He is well known in this city, and at present holds the position of foreman in the lower cotton mill.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are pleased to know that they will take up their residence in Jamesville, and all join in wishing them many years of prosperity.

The following are those from abroad who were present at the wedding:

From North Adams, Mass., Mrs. Wm. F. Pope, sister of the groom; Miss Venie Campbell, sister of the groom. From Chicago, Ill., Mrs. E. Scofield, Mrs. E. L. Scofield, Miss Fannie Porter, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Story. From Indianapolis, Ind., Mrs. O. J. Dearborn, Miss Della Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. J. Higher, (Milwaukee, Wis.) Mrs. T. J. Laughlin, Fort Atkinson, Wis.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 82 degrees above zero. Clear with south wind.

At one o'clock p. m. the register was 85 degrees above zero. Clear with east wind. For the corresponding hour one year ago the register was 75 and 84 degrees above zero.

MARRIAGE.

Married, at St. Mary's church this morning at 7:30 o'clock by Father Roche, Mr. James Monahan to Miss Mary Ryder, all of this city. The bride and groom are both industrious and energetic, well known in the city, and their friends wish them many prosperous and happy years of married life.

HE IS AT REST.

Although momentarily expected for several days, the death of Mr. John Griffiths is deeply regretted by all, and the tenderest sympathy will be extended to the surviving wife, little son and only sister.

Mr. Griffiths died at his home, 402 Court street, at eight o'clock last evening, after a painful illness, extending back to the 23rd of last February, his disease being a stomach difficulty.

Mr. Griffiths was born in South Wales, September 24th, 1837, and was a son of Thomas and Caroline Griffiths. The Griffiths were in the hotel business in South Wales. When John was nine years of age his father died. In 1850, his mother, with her five children, came to America, settling in Jamesville the same year. But a few hours after arriving in this city John secured a position in the Stevens house situated on the site now occupied by the Light Infantry armory. He continued in this employment until the house was destroyed by fire, April 1st, 1853. He then went to Beloit and was employed for some time in the Bushnell house, leaving this hotel he returned to Jamesville and attended the public schools. Soon after, however, he entered the employ of R. J. Richardson, who then was the proprietor of a large hardware store on Main street. Here he mastered the tinners' trade, and became familiar with the hardware business, and in 1863 he began business for himself, in which he proved very successful, building up one of the largest hardware, house-furnishing and farm-implement establishments in Southern Wisconsin, besides accumulating much real estate and personal property. Mr. Griffiths had been twice married. His first wife—Miss Emma Carpenter—died about twenty years ago, leaving no children. On April 27th, 1868, he was married to Miss Lizzie VanEtta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James VanEtta, old residents of this city and vicinity. This union was blessed with a son, now three years old.

Of his two sisters and two brothers who came to America with him and his mother in 1850, but one sister survives—Mrs. Charles Smith, of the town of Rock. Of the others, his mother died about sixteen years ago; William died in the army, being a member of the 12th Wisconsin battery, he died at Cairo, November 21st, 1862, while John was with him en route for home from the army hospital at Corinth, Mississippi; Mrs. Edward Reister died at Oronville, October 18th, 1864, and James Griffiths, near Haron, Dakota, in July, 1885.

Mrs. Griffiths was a member of the Masonic order, of Lodge 55, also a member of Oriental Lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias. He took an active interest in other societies. For several years he was a member of Washington Engine Co. No. 1, and when the department was reorganized in 1872 he joined the Fire Police Co., continuing his membership in that company until about two years ago.

In early life Mr. Griffiths was a member and regular attendant of the Methodist church. Soon after the death of his first wife he allowed his business matters to master his love for church worship and for some years he was not a regular communicant of any church. Soon after he was taken sick, he began to realize the need of a cleansed heart for his happiness in the life hereafter, and he and his wife again consecrated their lives to God by uniting with Trinity church.

Last Monday evening, in conversation with his sister, he said: "I know how concerned you are about my hereafter. I am all right. I have made my peace with God. I have returned like the prodigal son to his father's house."

Just before he expired, his sister asked him if he realized that his end was near, and he said: "Yes, but Jesus is with me. I trust Him." And he quietly passed to the peaceful home in heaven, where he is freed from all pain.

Mr. Griffiths' life has been a busy one, he having dealings with numerous individuals and firms throughout the country. He was popular in his business, and commanded the respect and confidence of all. He was generous to a fault, and but few who knew him and of his acts of kindness, but will silently express a prayer of sympathy for the consolation of the household now in mourning this death.

The funeral will take place at half past two o'clock on to-morrow afternoon, from the home, 402 Court street.
